ANNEX II REQUIRED DOCUMENTS................................................................................ 14
1. BACKGROUND AND POLICY CONTEXT

Adequate social protection is one of the fundamental goals of the European Union. Article 9 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union stipulates that “[i]n defining and implementing its policies and activities, the Union shall take into account requirements linked to the promotion of a high level of employment, the guarantee of adequate social protection, the fight against social exclusion, and a high level of education, training and protection of human health.” The specific role of the European Union in the area of social policy is defined in Article 153 of this same Treaty. With regard to the modernisation of social protection systems, the emphasis is on “measures designed to encourage cooperation between Member States through initiatives aimed at improving knowledge, developing exchanges of information and best practices, promoting innovative approaches and evaluating experiences, excluding any harmonisation of the laws and regulations of the Member States”. This cooperation takes place primarily in the context of the Social Protection Committee which was established in accordance with article 160 of the Treaty and developed the open method of coordination covering social inclusion, pensions, health and long-term care.

Social protection also represents a major share of public spending and thus comes under scrutiny in the context of the surveillance of Member States’ budgetary policies. In particular, the Economic Policy Committee, through its Ageing Working Group, examines every three years the long-term trends in ageing-related public spending of which pensions, health and long-term care are the most important components.

Although long-term care represents a much smaller share of public spending than pensions and health care, dependency¹ is a major social risk which can be expected to affect a growing number of older people as the large cohorts of the post-WWII baby boom begin to experience functional limitations that come with advanced age.

The needs of people with functional limitations are mostly taken care of by informal carers, in particular their spouses and children, thereby limiting the budgetary costs of such dependency. This may not be sustainable in the future as fewer children will be available to provide care, due to the lower birth rates experienced since the late 1960s, increased geographical distance between relatives as well as to rising retirement ages and increased labour force participation of potential carers.

¹ Dependency (or dependence) can be defined as "a state in which persons, by reason of lack or loss of physical, psychological or intellectual autonomy, require significant assistance or help in carrying out their usual day-to-day activities". (see Council of Europe, Recommendation No. R (98) 9 of the Committee of Ministers to Member States on Dependence, https://wcd.coe.int/com.instranet.InstraServlet?command=com.instranet.CmdBlobGet&InstranetImage=532369&SecMode=1&DocId=486242&Usage=2
The Commission’s Social Investment Package adopted in February 2013\(^2\) and a recent report prepared by the Commission services and the Social Protection Committee\(^3\) examined the risk of an increasing gap between the need for long-term care and the supply of such care, either by informal carers or by professionals delivering care in people’s homes or in institutions. These documents stressed the importance of investing in measures that can close the gap, either by reducing the need for long-term care or by ensuring that care can be delivered more efficiently. The relevant measures include prevention, rehabilitation, assistive technologies and age-friendly environments and a more efficient organisation of care systems, including through better coordination of the different actors involved in providing care.

The European Union supports the emergence of innovative responses to the threat of a widening gap between long-term care needs and supply through the European Innovation Partnership on Active and Healthy Ageing\(^4\) (EIPAHA)\(^1\). This initiative, launched in 2010, aims to increase the average healthy lifespan of Europeans by 2 years by 2020. It seeks to improve the health and quality of life (with a focus on older people), to contribute to more sustainable and efficient health and social care systems in the long term and to enhance the competitiveness of EU industry through business and expansion in new markets. The EIPAHA promotes a better cooperation between the European Commission and EU Member States, regions, industry, health and social care professionals, as well as organisations representing older people and patients.

While there is growing evidence that much can be done to reduce the need for long-term care and to make its delivery more efficient, there is still a lack of systematic evidence on what works best. Such evidence is essential to allow policy makers to invest scarce public funds in ways that achieve the greatest impact in terms of closing the gap between long-term care needs and supply.

2. Objectives and expected outputs

The purpose of this call is to bring together institutions that can develop solid evidence on the cost-effectiveness of investments in a wide range of measures to reduce the gap between the need for, and supply of, long-term care, including prevention, rehabilitation, assistive technologies and age-friendly environments as well as a more efficient organisation of care systems (notably through better coordination of the different actors involved in providing care). By establishing a network of institutions that have already collected relevant evidence, or are capable of doing so, it is expected that a common body of evidence can be generated and made available to policy makers across the EU, helping them to use public money in the most effective way in order to ensure access to high-quality care in a sustainable manner.

More specifically, the network should:

- Gather evidence on the main causes of/pathways into dependency;
- Review the current state of the art in preventing dependency;
- Examine the potential for rehabilitation for various causes of dependency;
- Identify measures (removal of barriers, deployment of technical devices...) that would help people with functional limitations to remain independent longer and to have to rely less on care provided by others;
- Identify potentials for efficiency gains in the delivery of care, including through a better coordination of care delivered by medical and social care professionals and informal carers.

The network should gather and review evidence on the cost-effectiveness of a broad range of measures in the areas listed above and their potential for reducing the gap between need for, and supply of, long-term care. This assessment of cost-effectiveness should help policy makers to set priorities for public investment in prevention, rehabilitation, age-friendly environments and independent living solutions, and more efficient care systems. It should take into account not only the reduction in the need for care or the cost savings that can be achieved in its delivery, but also the impact on beneficiaries’ quality of life and the respect of their fundamental rights. The deliverables of the network could take the form of guidelines, manuals, toolkits or any other suitable way of bringing evidence to the attention of policy makers.

The network could also coordinate research and evaluation activities in the above areas and design a coordinated research agenda for its members, ensuring that the collection of new evidence is done without unnecessary duplication and meets policy makers’ needs in an optimal way across the EU.

The network will have to establish good communication with policy makers, ensuring that relevant findings are presented in a way that is accessible to policy makers, and ensuring that policy makers can also provide feedback on the advice received from the network and contribute to the setting of priorities for the evidence gathering strategy of the network and its members.

- Applicants are encouraged to submit their project proposal in English to facilitate treatment of the proposals and speed up the evaluation process. It should be noted, however, that applications in all official languages of the EU will be accepted. In case if the proposal is in any other EU language, applicants must submit an executive summary of their proposal in English and provide evidence that they can ensure efficient communication within the network.

6. ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

6.1. Eligibility of applicants

Applicants must:

- Be a properly constituted and registered legal person, having their registered office in one of the Member States of the EU at the time of the submission of the application under the call;

- Lead applicants in charge of coordinating the action must be either
  - a public institution specialised in evaluating measures aimed at reducing the need for long-term care or enhancing the efficiency of long-term care delivery. This specialization can be proved either by the regulatory text which is legally in force in the concerned country or by an official written document duly signed by the competent authority, describing this mission very precisely or,
  - a private not-for profit institution, if it regularly works for public authorities on these issues and if they have been expressly mandated in writing by the competent national authority to assume responsibility for the implementation of the action.

- Co-applicants can be any type of non-profit organisation or international organisations. Affiliated entities are not eligible under this call.

6.2. Eligibility of proposals

The proposal submitted for funding must meet the following eligibility criteria:

- seek funding only for activities carried out in Member States of the EU;
- be submitted by an international consortium (lead applicant and co-applicants) of at least five institutions, and established in at least five EU Member States.
- comply with the maximum limit for EU co-financing (80%).

7. EXCLUSION CRITERIA

Administrative and financial penalties may be imposed on applicants and co-applicants who are guilty of misrepresentation.

Only proposals submitted by organisations which comply with the requirements of the eligibility and exclusion criteria will be eligible for further evaluation.
8. SELECTION CRITERIA

Only organisations with the necessary financial and operational capacity described below may be considered for the award of a grant. Financial and operational capacity of the applicant must correspond to the following definitions:

8.1. Financial capacity

The applicants (lead and co-applicants) must have the financial capacity to carry out the action; i.e. they must have access to solid and adequate funding to maintain their activities for the period of the action and to help finance it as necessary. (The verification of financial capacity will not apply to public bodies or international organisations).

The financial capacity assessment will be based on the analysis of the supporting documents listed in positions 2, 3, 13 and 14 in the table in Annex II and by calculating the ratio between the total assets in the applicant's balance sheet and the total budget of the project or the part of the project budget for which that organisation is responsible according to the budget in the application form (the ratio should be greater than 0.70). In addition, the Commission will take into account any other relevant information on financial capacity provided by the applicant.

8.2. Operational capacity

The applicants (lead applicant and co-applicants) must have the operational resources (technical, management) and the professional skills and qualifications needed to successfully complete the proposed action, as well as the ability to implement it. The applicants must have a strong track record of competence and experience in the field and in particular in the type of action proposed.

In order to meet these objectives the consortium should demonstrate:

- Good access to scientific information and literature on long-term care-related topics but also demonstrated capacity to review and analyse research material on health or long-term care topics especially to identify knowledge gaps.
- A strong capacity to conduct policy-oriented research, especially meta-analyses
- Good connections with policy makers and demonstrated capacity to contribute to decision-making process and to anticipate, and respond to, policy needs.
- The capacity to disseminate knowledge.

The operational capacity should be proven by the declaration on honour and the curriculum vitae mentioned in Annex II, as well as the information provided in the required sections (D.1.1 and D.1.3) of the SWIM application form on the operational structure of the lead applicant and co-applicants and on previous and current actions undertaken by them.
9. AWARD CRITERIA

The grants will be awarded following an assessment of the proposals on the basis of the following criteria. Only proposals obtaining in excess of 70 points and at least 50% of the maximum number of points for each criterion can be selected for funding.

- Relevance to the general objectives of the call for proposals: Does the project address the issues raised in this call for proposals? (20 points)

- Potential impact on better policies in the participating countries: Is the project likely to contribute to the development of better policies and lasting progress across Member States? (20 points)

- Overall quality of the proposal in terms of methodology, the co-applicants involved and the work programme: Is the project well designed and clear in its conceptual and practical approach, is the methodology appropriate and does it mobilise the right kind of expertise as well as input from relevant stakeholders, are the respective roles and responsibilities among the co-applicants and team members clearly defined, is the work plan appropriate and realistic with regard to the project goals? (30 points)

- Relevance of the proposal for other countries and the EU policy debate: Will the project be relevant to policy makers and stakeholders in other Member States and yield potentially transferable results? (15 points)

- Sound cost-efficiency ratio and financial quality of the proposal: Will the project be cost-effective and achieve results at a reasonable cost to the EU budget? (15 points)

10. LEGAL COMMITMENTS

In the event of a grant awarded by the Commission, a grant agreement, drawn up in euro and detailing the conditions and level of funding, will be sent to the beneficiary, as well as the procedure in view to formalise the obligations of the parties.

The action should start after the signature of grant agreements, expected within six months of the date of submission.

However, applicants should note that if their project is selected, they will not necessarily receive the grant agreement prior to the action starting date. Any expenditure incurred before the signature of the grant agreement is at the applicant’s risk.

11. FINANCIAL PROVISIONS

For more detailed information on the financial and administrative aspects of the call please see Annex I which is available on the call website:

http://ec.europa.eu/social/main.jsp?catId=629&langId=en
The Financial Guidelines for Applicants provide more detailed information for the applicants, especially as regards guidelines for presenting the proposal's provisional budget along with the rules governing which categories of expenditure are eligible and which are not.

Only eligible costs can be taken into account for determining the amount of grant.

For implementation contracts, the beneficiary must award the contract to the bid offering best value for money or the lowest price (as appropriate), avoiding conflicts of interests and retaining the documentation for the event of an audit. Further information on subcontracting and implementing contracts is contained in the financial guidelines (Annex I).

The overall coordination and management, as well as the financial management of the project cannot be sub-contracted. Procedures to award contracts may have been initiated, but contracts may not be concluded by the beneficiaries before the start of the implementation of the projects.
